Guiding The Stingers HEAD COACH – SKIP ROCLETTE

While putting together a varsity football program is generally regarded as a full-time job in itself, Concordia Stingers head coach Skip Rochette continues to burn the midnight oil with numerous other tasks. Now in his eighth year as skipper of the gridiron vessel, he is coming off an extremely busy off-season. In addition to recruiting, keeping in constant touch with returning players and the staging of both dryland and spring training camps, Skip continues to occupy the role of president of the Canadian University Football Coaches Association, which he assumed two years ago. During the spring he conducted a coaches clinic in Pointe Claire, following that up with a similar role a few months later at a session in Niagara Falls, Ontario. He split his summer months as a guest coach at the Canadian Football League Hamilton Tiger-Cats training camp, running the Stingers' football for camp youngsters, working with his coaching staff to complete the 1985 roster and occupying two additional functions for the athletics department: supervisor of facilities and chairman of the department safety committee.

Even as the 1985 campaign is in progress, Rochette continues to consult with CFL general managers on a number of matters, aimed at advancing the plight of the varsity football player. The 38-year-old Rochette, a native of Pointe St. Charles, enjoyed a playing career which included a four year stint as quarterback at the University of Bridgeport (Connecticut), where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree. He received honorable mention on the All-New England and All-East teams and guided his squad to the Knute Rochne Bowl (Division II championship) in his senior year. Skip then obtained a second Bachelor degree in Education at Queen's University where he led the varsity grid team to the Western Bowl. He was drafted twice by CFL teams: the now defunct Montreal Alouettes in 1970 and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers a year later. His coaching career began at the University of New Brunswick where he served as offensive coordinator while earning a Masters degree in Physical Education.

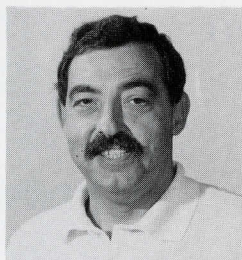

Prior to joining Concordia in 1978, Rochette had head coaching positions at Center Hastings Secondary School in Maidoc, Ontario and Pierrefonds Comprehensive High School, where in five years his teams won two provincial crowns. During that final season with Pierrefonds Skip was also the quarterback coach for the now defunct Verdun Junior Maple Leafs. Skip resides in Kirkland with his wife Susan and daughter Heather.

Dr Ed. Enos: 20 years of service

From Loyola College to Concordia University

Dr. Enos teaching wrestling techniques to students at the Institute for the Blind

"If you are tired of the 'it's lovely to lose' mentality that's rampant in much of the country, and want your son to become a winner, here's a tip: Look at Loyola. More specifically, look to Loyola College and its new Athletic Director, Ed Enos. Enos' personal creed is simple: 'I can't stand to lose.'" Ed Enos was a great football player and a superb coach. He is an outstanding teacher of men, a church leader, and well-educated person. His plan for Loyola: To revitalize sports on the campus and still maintain the rigid academic standards."

- Mike Gulwil, En Ville Business Family Paper, Fall 1966

"Ed Enos, originator of the Loyola Sports Hall of Fame idea is to become a Hall of Famer himself this Saturday, November 8th. Enos' alma mater, the University of Connecticut, has selected him as one of their all-time great players. Enos is best remembered by Connecticut fans as an intense two-way sixty minute competitor who excelled on defense. Upon graduation he was signed to a pro contract by the New York Giants (NFL). Later he went on to star as a rugged defensive end with the British Columbia Lions (CFL)."

- Loyola News, Fall 1968

"Alouettes Alumni Association Football Hall of Fame citation presented to Edmund F. Enos for leadership and dedication to football in recognition of initiative, sincere and dedicated leadership on behalf of youth, their participation in sport particularly in football."

- Fall 1971

"Dr. Edmund F. Enos, Assistant Dean, Faculty of Arts and Science, Concordia University, and Director of the Institute of Comparative Physical Education, is an ebullient manifestation of Churchillian bulldog determination."

- John Griffin, Concordia University Magazine, Summer 1980

"Enos has always worked with the ultimate goal of acting 'for the good of Concordia.' At times this has been to his own detriment in terms of gruelling 60 hour work weeks."

- Mike Cohen, The Concordian, Winter 1984

"Dr. Ed Enos elected to senate. Sir George Williams University and Loyola College are merged. As a tribute to his efforts and work for Loyola, Dr. Enos received from his colleagues the largest vote of the 14 professors nominated for the senate."

- Berkshire Eagle (Pittsfield, Massachusetts) Spring, 1973

"Reverend Patrick Malone (former Loyola president), who among others, decided that Loyola's name would not be tarnished by having winners in athletics, and that those who sought to win under the old Spanish name need not compete with lower life for the attention of the fans in the places they played. So Father Malone hired an athletic director named Ed Enos, who shattered all kind of medieval thinking, and stepped on all kinds of toes in the beginning, and made lots of enemies for himself. His great sin was that he was a big thinker. Anyone with a clear head can recognize that his expansionary philosophy has already reaped huge rewards."

- L. Ian Macdonald, Loyola Alumnus Magazine, Fall 1968

"Ed Enos never stops. He is truly an amazing man. Concordia is lucky to have him."

- Dean Arfin, Loyola News, Spring 1980

"The Concordia University athletic program would still be on the ground-floor if it were not for Dr. Ed Enos."

- George Springate, Sunday Express, Winter 1983

Enos in B.C. Lions uniform

"Everyone has heard of Ed Enos: you have to come across some sphere of his influence no matter where you go in this college. From scrimmaging in varsity football practices to addressing letters to co-eds urging them to become more athletically active; from laboring under a deluge of paperwork at his office desk to braving a deluge of rain while spotting at a football game atop a shaky scaffold. Enos has made his presence felt in every nook and cranny at Loyola."

- Ray Tarras, Loyola News, Fall 1965

"He has taken a tough stand against advocates of racism, sexism, pornography and championed the cause of the handicapped and underprivileged. Dr. Enos is regarded as one of the leaders of the Montreal English Catholic Community."

- The East Boston Times-Leader Free Press, Fall 1984

"Enos now a naturalized Canadian isn't afraid of hard work nor does he shrink from difficult tasks."

- Dick Bacon, Sunday Express, Winter 1968

"Loyola athletic teams have gathered many championships over the years. It is all part of a carefully worked out plan, which was the brainchild of Ed Enos, initiated four years ago as part of his expanded physical education and athletic program. Intramural sports were increased from eight to 32 and concurrently, a five year intercollegiate plan was implemented to remain athletically commensurate with and representative of the school's vast academic growth in quality and quantity, and to maintain the proud athletic tradition Loyola has enjoyed since the turn of the century."

- Ray Shank, Montreal Gazette, Winter 1969

"To the average person, the name Dr. Edmund Enos means sports medicine. Like his meteoric rise from a defensive lineman for B.C. Lions to director of physical education and athletics at Montreal's Concordia University, the Boston, Mass., native has helped raise sports medicine from being the obscure domain of locker-room first aiders to national recognition."

- Joe Sinasac, Kitchener-Waterloo Record, Winter 1981

"The most practical approach to capitalize the values of sport, beyond the professional and amateur competitive levels, but utilized for development of physical fitness, is that planned by Ed Enos, director of physical education and athletics at Loyola, with the approval of Louis Chantigny, Quebec's commissioner of sport."

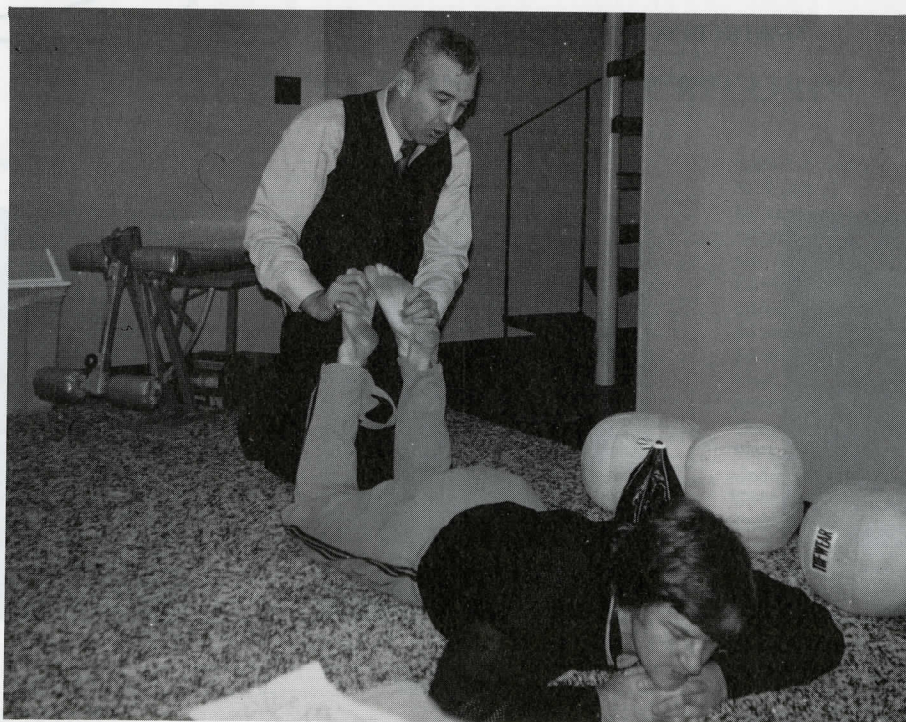

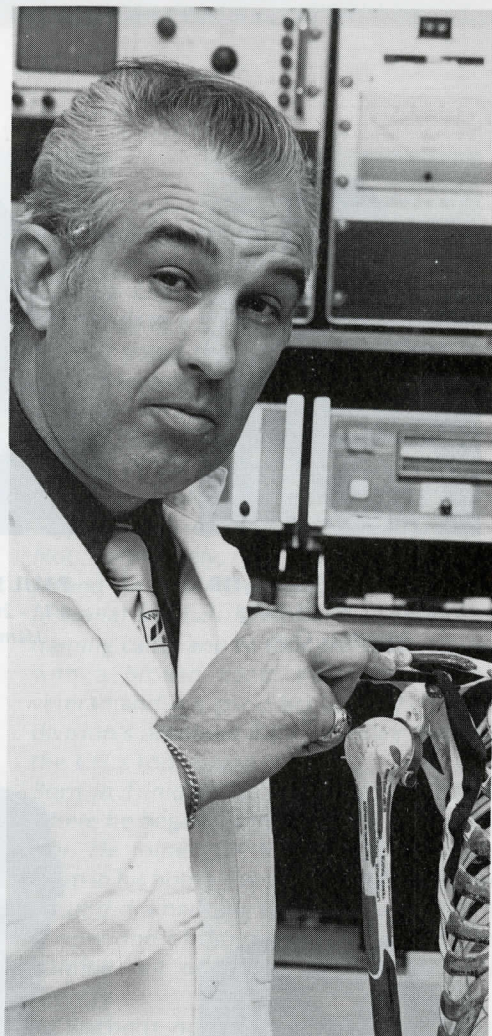

- Elmer Ferguson, Montreal Star, Summer 1968

"Dr. Enos' influence is not limited to China, but spans the globe. He is one of a select few who is welcomed and respected in Moscow, Peking, Washington and in every other major sporting nation. His inspiring speeches, impeccable honesty and resourcefulness seems to appeal to even the most critical foreign observers."

- United States Association of Independent Gymnastic Club News, Summer 1984

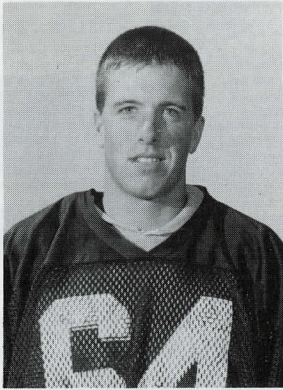

"Dr. Enos, a resident of Bai d'urfe, is credited with the initiation of a comprehensive intramural and interuniversity program, an academic department, as well as the implementation of five undergraduate programs, a graduate program, 42 courses and the establishment of an international Institute of Comparative Physical Education."

First pick in CFL draft

Benjamin adds polish to Stinger grid program

Benjamin

Since Sir George Williams University merged with Loyola College in 1975 to form Concordia, varsity football here has gained an outstanding reputation in Canada, both on and off the field. The club has always been competitive, attendance is on the rise and the quality of players being turned out by head coach Skip Rochette and his staff has drawn rave reviews from Canadian Football League scouts. However, when reviewing the Stingers' all-time grid roster, Nick Benjamin's name clearly stands out in the crowd.

Big Ben's four year Stinger career, during which he was named an all-Canadian offensive tackle twice, culminated in dramatic fashion last February when the Ottawa Rough Riders made him the first choice overall in the CFL College draft. That put him in both the Concordia and Ontario-Quebec Intercollegiate Football Conference record books for becoming the first player to accomplish such a feat. And significant it was, because unlike past drafts territorial picks had been eliminated for the 1985 edition. Dr. Ed Enos, Concordia's athletic director, was particularly overjoyed for a number of reasons stating: "Nick's selection is of special significance as it represents,

I hope, the end of an era in which Canadian athletes feel it necessary to leave Canada and go to a United States college to develop their skills to a level where it would warrant a team using the CFL's number one draft choice to acquire his services. Benjamin's selection is first and foremost a great credit to his innate abilities and dedication, as well as to the diligent and developmental coaching of Skip Rochette and our staff in helping Nick realize his potential."

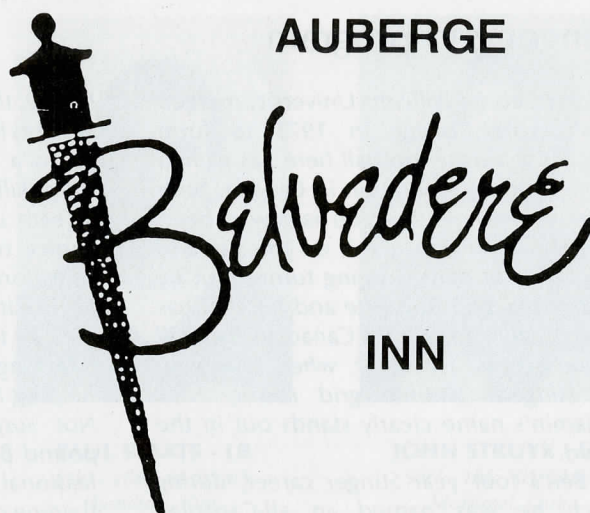

Not surprisingly, the six-foot-three, 275 pound Benjamin has adapted well to professional football. Despite missing most of training camp and all four pre-season games with a broken hand, he's played like a veteran and is a good bet to be the eastern division's nominee for a Schenley Award as the CFL's top rookie.

Born in Trinidad, Nick grew up in Oshawa where he began playing football as a youngster. He joined the Stingers via the junior team in his home-town and turned his career around dramatically to the point where he is now one of the more well paid rookies, coming out of a Canadian university, in the CFL.

As Rochette notes: "Nick came here as just another player, but left a superstar."

THE SCHENLEY AWARDS

The Monde Selection is among the most coveted awards in the spirits industry. It is recognized as the "symbol of quality" by over 170 countries.

Why? Because only the Monde Selection is awarded according to both the subjective judgment of experts and the objective analysis of scientific tests.

Thus, we're very proud that in the last ten years Schenley has won more Monde Selection Awards than any other distiller in Canada.

We've earned 33 Gold, 12 Silver and 4 Bronze medals.

It's a remarkable record of achievement, confirming that when it comes to fine spirits...

Schenley is best.

SCHENLEY O.F.C.

The winner of 10 Gold medals, plus the competition's highest award...the Monde Selection perpetual trophy. Obviously, one of Canada's outstanding 8-year-old whiskies.

TROIKA VODKA

This exceptional vodka has won 5 Gold, 1 Silver and 1 Bronze. Troika has also won the loyalty of Canadians who appreciate a winning bloody mary or screwdriver.

SCHENLEY LONDON DRY GIN

The only dry gin to ever win a Monde Selection Gold medal, not once, but five times! It's the main ingredient for an award winning martini.

RON CARIOCA WHITE RUM

Winner of 2 Gold, 4 Silver and 1 Bronze, and a winner for those who appreciate the refreshing taste of rum made from pure cane spirits imported from the Tropics.
